To counter China, India hosts global Buddhist meet

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Thursday the world is passing through challenges such as war, economic instability, terrorism, religious extremism and climate change and asserted that centuries ago Lord Buddha's teachings offered a solution to these problems.

"It is universally accepted that today's time is the most challenging time of this century. On the one hand, two countries are at war for months, on the other hand, the world is also going through economic instability. Threats like terrorism and religious fanaticism are attacking the soul of humanity. A challenge like climate change is looming large over the existence of the entire humanity. Glaciers are melting, ecology is being destroyed, species are going extinct," the PM said in his address during the inaugural session of the Global Buddhist Summit here.

"In the midst of all this, there are millions of people like us who have faith in Buddha, who believe in the welfare of all living beings. This hope, this faith is the biggest strength of this earth. When these hopes unite, the Buddha's Dhamma will become the world's belief." The Global Buddhist Summit is seen as an important initiative of the Modi government to resist China's bid, as part of its larger aggressive approach for pursuing diplomatic objectives, to project itself as home to Buddhism. Modi said that attempts are being made to impose one's thoughts, and one's faith on others, which is also becoming a big challenge for the world. "But, what Lord Buddha had said — Attan mev pathaman, pati rupe nivesaye ie, first one should behave rightly, then one should preach to others. In the modern era, we see that whether it is Gandhiji or many others, they got inspiration from this formula," he said.

The PM said that there was no problem in the modern world whose solution could not be found in the teachings of the Buddha. "The war and unrest that the world is suffering today; centuries ago the Buddha had given a solution by saying that victory gives birth to enmity, and the defeated person also sleeps in sorrow. That's why we can be happy by giving up the idea of defeat and victory," Modi said.

The summit is being co-hosted by the ministry of culture and the International Buddhist Confederation on April 20 and 21.

Buddha's teachings antidote for global problems, says PM

NEW DELHI, April 20: Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Thursday that the current global situation is the most challenging as there is war, economic instability, terrorism, and religious fanaticism, adding that in such times, the teachings of Buddha are the best solution for all such problems.

"This hope, this faith, is the biggest strength on this earth. When this hope gets united, the Buddha's Dhamma will become the world's belief, and the Buddha's realisation will become the belief of humanity," he said while addressing the inaugural session of the Global Buddhist Summit here.

Remembering the Buddhist path of theory, practise, and realisation, the Prime Minister elaborated on India's adoption of all three points in its journey in the last nine years of the NDA government.

Modi said that India has worked with dedication for the propagation of Lord Buddha's teachings.

He mentioned the peace missions and India's efforts in rescue work during disasters like the earthquake in Turkey.

"This emotion of 140 crore Indians is being seen, understood, and accepted by the world", Modi said. (IANS)

NEW DELHI, Apr 20

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said the world is passing through challenges such as war, economic instability, terrorism, religious extremism and climate change and asserted that Lord Buddha's ideas offer a solution to these problems.

Addressing the inaugural session of the Global Buddhist Summit here, Modi took a swipe at rich countries, saying the world is facing a climate change crisis now because in the last century, "some countries stopped thinking about others and the coming generations".

"For decades they kept thinking that meddling with nature will not impact them. They kept putting it on others," he said.

Emphasising that the path shown by Lord Buddha is the "path of the future and sustainability", the Prime Minister also said that "had the world followed his teachings, it would not have faced the climate change crisis". In his address, Modi quoted ancient texts on Lord Buddha's teachings and said the need of the hour is that people and nations prioritise global interests along with that of their own by drawing inspiration from the Buddha's philosophy.

This is the road to a happy and stable world. This is necessary to move from self to the wider world, from narrowness to integral (approach), the prime minister said, adding that the world will have to think about the poor and countries lacking resources.

Inspired by the teachings of Lord Buddha, India is taking new initiatives for global welfare, he said. Modi asserted that India has been following the path shown by the Buddha and cited the country extending help to others, including Turkey after it was hit by an earthquake, to say that it has treated every human being's pain as its own.

"Challenges to solutions is the journey of the Buddha (samsaya sa samsadhan). The Buddha didn't leave his palace because he was in discomfort. He left because he saw and felt the pain of others," he said.

TEACHINGS OF BUDDHA OFFER SOLUTIONS TO GLOBAL CRISES'

HT Correspondent

By HT Correspondent

NEW DELHI: Lord Buddha's teachings offer solutions for major issues in the present challenges confronting the world, including the economic, political, environmental and the climate crisis, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said at the first Global Buddhist Summit on Thursday.

Addressing the inaugural session of the summit that was attended by Buddhist spiritual leaders from across the world, including the Dalai Lama, Modi said the Buddha had provided a solution centuries ago for the one solution that the world is currently grappling with.

Modi referred to a famous sermon from the Buddha — "app deepo bhava" or "be your own light" — and said this could be the answer to many questions. "This has been the case. I proudly said in the Global Buddhist Summit that there has always been a solution, and that is, 'Be good'."

The two-day summit, hosted jointly by the culture ministry and the International Buddhist Confederation (IBC), is being held as part of the Indian government's efforts to strengthen its country's connections and building peace in Buddhism, one of the world's oldest religions, which has nearly 500 million followers.

NEW DELHI: The Dalai Lama's participation in the first Global Buddhist Summit was the subject of intense discussion involving the culture and external affairs ministries, days after the Tibetan spiritual leader was involved in a controversy over a video of him with a minor boy at a meeting.

Some sections of both ministries questioned whether the Dalai Lama should participate in the meet to soon after the row, and others opposed his inclusion in the gathering at the inaugural session that was addressed by the Prime Minister, people familiar with the matter said.

Eventually, a solution was worked out whereby the 87-year-old Tibetan spiritual leader would join the deliberations on Friday, the second day of the event that is bringing together more than 300 delegations from around the world, the people said.

Officials from both ministries believed it would not be appropriate for the Dalai Lama to be present at the same gathering with Modi following the controversy, even though the Tibetan leader had offered an apology over the video, the people said.

Officials of the International Buddhist Confederation, which organised the Global Buddhist Summit along with the culture ministry, said last week that the Dalai Lama had been invited to the event but it was unclear whether he would attend.

Narendra Modi

Lanka have sent large delegations for the summit, whose theme is "Responses to contemporary challenges: Philosophy to praxis".

"It is universally accepted that India's is the most challenging time of this century. Today, two countries are at war for months (and) the world is going through economic instability. Threats such as terrorism and religious fanaticism are attacking the soul of humanity. A challenge like climate change is looming large over the existence of the humanity," Modi said, speaking in Hindi.

But amid all this, there are millions who have faith in the Buddha and believe in the welfare of all living beings, and "his faith is the biggest strength of the earth," Modi said in a speech peppered with quotations from Buddhist scriptures. He noted the Buddha had preached about abandoning war, defeat and victory for eternal peace, and said enmity can never be countered with enmity.

Lord Buddha had also said happiness lies in unity and living together with all people, Modi emphasised. "There is no problem in the modern world whose solution we cannot find in the teachings of the Buddha hundreds of years ago. The Buddha had provided a solution centuries ago to the war and unrest the world is suffering from today," he said.

"The path of the Buddha is the path of the future and of sustainability. Had the world followed the Buddha's teachings, it would not have had the problems of climate change," Modi said, adding that this problem had arisen because countries stopped thinking about others and the future generations.

Every person can contribute towards fighting climate change, Modi said while pointing to India's "Lifestyle For Environment" or LIFE initiative, which has been influenced by the teachings of the Buddha.

The Indian government has worked to take the Buddha's teachings to the people, and this includes steps such as the development of Buddhist circuit in India and Nepal, rejuvenating pilgrimage centres such as Sarnath and Kushinagar, building an India, International Centre for Buddhist Culture and Heritage at Lumbini with India's cooperation, he said.

The Buddha's legacy had inspired India's moves to help other countries affected by calamities such as the recent earthquake in Turkey. "This emotion of Indian Indians is being seen, understood and accepted by the world," IBC is helping create new opportunities for like-minded countries to spread Buddhism and peace and discussions on how to handle current challenges hold a ray of hope for the world. Countries have to abandon narrow thinking and focus on universal, serene people and other nations affected by a lack of resources, as this is the only way to establish a better world, Modi said.

The session was also addressed by culture minister G Kishan Reddy and law minister Kiren Rijiju, while ministers of state for culture Arjun Ram Meghwal and Minister-in-Charge, International Buddhist Confederation secretary general Dharmapala were present on the occasion.

The PM visited a photo-exhibition and offered flowers to a Buddha statue. He also offered monks robes or "shower hats" in 19 emblematic modes, including representatives from Bangladesh, Bhutan, Mongolia, Myanmar, Nepal, South Korea, Australia and Mexico.

Buddha's teachings antidote for global problems: PM addresses Buddhist summit

NEW DELHI: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said the current global situation is the most challenging as there is war, economic instability, terrorism and religious fanaticism, adding that in such times, teachings of Buddha are the best solution for all such problems.

"This hope, this faith is the biggest strength of this earth. When this hope gets united, the Buddha's Dhamma will become the world's belief and Buddha's realisation will become the belief of humanity," he said while addressing the inaugural session of Global Buddhist Summit here.

Remembering the Buddhist path of theory, practice and realisation, the Prime Minister elaborated on India's adoption of all the three points in its journey in the last nine years of the NDA government.

Modi said that India has worked with dedication for the propagation of Lord Buddha's teachings.

He mentioned about the peace missions and India's efforts in rescue work during disasters like the earthquake in Turkey. "This emotion of 140 crore Indians is being seen, understood and accepted by the world", Modi said.

Budha offers solutions: PM

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said that the world is passing through challenges such as war, economic instability, terrorism, religious extremism and climate change and asserted that Lord Buddha's ideas offer a solution to these problems. Addressing the inaugural session of the two-day Global Buddhist Summit in the national capital, the Prime Minister said that the current time is the most challenging time of this century as there is war, economic instability, terrorism and religious fanaticism, along with the challenge of climate change with species disappearing and glaciers melting.

"Amidst all this, there are people who believe in Buddha and the welfare of all creatures. This hope, this faith is the biggest strength of this earth. When this hope gets united, the Buddha's dharma will become the world's belief and the Buddha's realisation will become the belief of humanity."

Mr Modi underscored the relevance of Buddha's teaching by saying that all the problems of modern times lend themselves to solutions through the ancient teachings of the Lord.

"Similarly, Lord Buddha's teaching that one should first look at the conduct of oneself before preaching to others can address the menace of imposing one's own views on others, so prevalent in today's world," the Prime Minister said.

Mr Modi, in his address, recalled his speech at the United Nations a few years ago and said that India has given the world Buddha, not yuddha (war).

The Prime Minister said: "The path of Buddha is the path of the future and the path of sustainability. Had the world followed Buddha's teachings, it would not have faced the problem of climate change."

"This problem arose as nations stopped thinking about others and the coming generations. This mistake has accumulated to catastrophic proportions. Buddha preached good conduct without any consideration of personal gain as such behaviour leads to overall good," he explained.

Mr Modi highlighted how each person is affecting the earth in one way or another, be it with lifestyle, eating or travelling habits and pointed out that everyone can contribute towards fighting climate change.

Throwing light on Lifestyle For Environment (Mission LIFE), an initiative by India influenced by the inspirations of Lord Buddha, the Prime Minister said that if people become aware and change their lifestyle, then this huge problem of climate change can also be tackled. "Mission LIFE is influenced by the inspirations of Buddha and it furthers Buddha's thoughts," he remarked.

Addressing a gathering of eminent Buddhist monks, scholars, ambassadors and diplomats, Modi quoted ancient texts on Lord Buddha's teachings and said the need of the hour is that people and nations promote global interests along with that of their own by drawing inspiration from the Buddha's philosophy.

"This is the road to a happy and stable world. This is necessary to move from self to the wider world, from narrowness to integral approach," the Prime Minister said, adding that the world will have to think about the poor and countries lacking resources.

Modi asserted that India has been following the path shown by the Buddha and cited the country extending help to others, including Turkey after it was hit by an earthquake, to say that it has treated every human being's pain as its own.

"Challenges to solutions is the journey of the Buddha ('samsara' or 'samsarban'). The Buddha didn't leave his palace because he was in discomfort. He left because he saw and felt the pain of others," he said at the summit being organised by the Union Ministry of Culture in collaboration with the International Buddhist Confederation (IBC).

Modi recalled his speech at the United Nations a few years ago where he said, "India didn't give war to the world, it gave the Buddha," and said the summit will provide an "effective platform" for putting together efforts of all countries in the direction of achieving a peaceful and prosperous world while fostering sustainability. Platforms like IBC are giving the opportunity to "like-minded and like-hearted countries" to spread Buddha Dhamma and peace," Modi said.

मोदी ने कहा, 'भारत दुनिया के हर मानव के दुख को अपना दुख समझता है। दुनिया के अलग-अलग बेलों में हाति मिशन हो या टर्कों के शूकूप जैसी आपदा हो, भारत हर संकट के समय मानवता के साथ खड़ा होता है।'

■ नवी दिल्ली : जग आज युद्ध, आर्थिक अस्थैर्य, दहशतवाद, धार्मिक कट्टरतावाद आणि हवामान बदलासारख्या संकटांचा सामना करत आहे आणि भगवान गौतम बुद्धांच्या शिकवणीतच या संकटांवरील उपाय आहे, असे प्रतिपादन पंतप्रधान नरेंद्र मोदी यांनी केले. दिल्लीतील अशोका हॉटेलमध्ये आयोजित पहिल्या जागतिक बौद्ध शिखर परिषदेच्या उद्घाटन सोहळ्यात ते बोलत होते.

हवामान बदलाच्या संकटामाठी मोदींनी श्रीमंत देशांना जबाबदार ठरवले. गत शतकात काही देशांनी आपल्या प्रगतीसाठी इतरांचा आणि भावी पिढ्यांचा विचारच केला नाही. त्यांनी निसर्गाला अक्षरशः ओरबाडले. जगाने जर गौतम

सध्या जगापुढे सर्वाधिक आव्हानात्मक काळ असल्याचे त्यांनी नमूद केले. एकीकडे दोन देशांमध्ये अनेक महिन्यांपासून

युद्ध सुरू आहे, तर दुसरीकडे जग आर्थिक अस्थैर्यातून जात आहे. दहशतवाद, धार्मिक कट्टरतावादासारखी संकटे मानवतेवर प्रहार करत आहेत. हवामान बदलाचे संकट संपूर्ण मानवजातीच्या अस्तित्वावर काळ बनून घोंगावत आहे. पर्यावरण नष्ट होत आहे. अनेक प्रजाती नष्ट होत आहेत. या संकटातही तुमच्या-माझ्यासारख्या कोट्यवधी लोकांची भगवान बुद्धांवर श्रद्धा आहे आणि जगाच्या कल्याणावर विश्वास आहे. आज जग ज्या संकटातून जात आहे, त्यावरील उपाय गौतम बुद्धांनी अनेक शतकांपूर्वीच दिला होता. आधुनिक जगातील प्रत्येक समस्येचा उपाय बुद्धांच्या उपदेशात आहे, असे प्रतिपादन मोदींनी केले.

Give up narrow interests to make world a better place: PM

STATESMAN NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, APRIL 21

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said if the world is to become a happy and better place, it would have to adopt Lord Buddha's mantra of working not just for one's interests, but in the care of others surviving with limited resources.

The current times require that every person and country should worry about global world interests too, while looking after their own welfare, so that the world becomes a stable place, the Prime Minister said.

Modi, addressing the first Global Buddhist Summit, the two-day summit has been organised by the Ministry of Culture and the International Buddhist Confederation with the theme "Responsibility to Contemporary World".

Modi said that while he lived in a palace, there was pain in the life of others, and he could not ignore this reality, the PM said.

The Prime Minister said the present times are the most challenging of this century as there is war, economic instability, terrorism and religious fanaticism, and the challenge of climate change with species disappearing and glaciers melting. Amidst all this there are people who believe in Buddha and the welfare of all creatures, he said.

Amidst all this there are people who believe in Buddha and the welfare of all creatures, he said.

Modi underscored the relevance of Lord Buddha's teachings, saying that all the problems of modern times need the answers in solutions through the ancient teachings of the Lord. Lord Buddha, the Prime Minister said, preached abandoning war, defeat and victory for eternal peace. He said enmity can never be examined with empathy and happiness lies in unity, the Prime Minister said.

Similarly, Lord Buddha's teaching that one should first look at the conduct of the self before preaching others can address the menace of imposing one's own views on others so prevalent in today's world. The Prime Minister said "The dharma is the path of the future and the path of sustainability. Had the world followed Buddha's teachings, it would not have faced the problem of climate change."

This problem arose, the Prime Minister explained, as nations stopped thinking about others and competing generations. This mistake accumulated to catastrophic proportions, he said. Lord Buddha preached good conduct without any consideration of personal gain as such behavior leads to overall good.

The Prime Minister highlighted how each person is affecting the earth in one way or the other, be it with lifestyle, eating or traveling habits and pointed out that everyone can contribute towards lighting climate change.

He said there is the need to come out of the delusions of materialism and selfishness and imbibe the teaching of Bhawan Sri Sanghvi, i.e. Buddha should not only be made a symbol but also

यूक्रेन-रूस युद्ध सदी की बड़ी चुनौती : मोदी

बौद्ध शिखर सम्मेलन

देश के साथ विश्व हित हो प्राथमिकता

लोकमत समाचार सेवा

नई दिल्ली : प्रधानमंत्री नरेंद्र मोदी ने यूक्रेन-रूस युद्ध, मौजूदा वैश्विक आर्थिक परिस्थितियों और जलवायु परिवर्तन से जुड़ी चिंताओं को इस सदी की सबसे बड़ी चुनौती करार दिया। उन्होंने कहा कि आज समय की मांग है कि प्रत्येक राष्ट्र की प्राथमिकता अपने देश के हित के साथ ही विश्व हित भी हो।

अशोक होटल में आयोजित पहले वैश्विक बौद्ध शिखर सम्मेलन का उद्घाटन करने के बाद अपने संबोधन में प्रधानमंत्री ने कहा कि आज दुनिया जिस युद्ध और अशांति से पीड़ित है, उसका समाधान बुद्ध के उपदेशों में है। प्रधानमंत्री ने यह कहते हुए समृद्ध देशों पर भी निशाना साधा कि दुनिया आज जलवायु परिवर्तन के संकट का सामना कर रही है क्योंकि पिछली शताब्दी में कुछ देशों ने दूसरों के बारे में और आने वाली पीढ़ियों के बारे में सोचना ही बंद कर दिया था। दशकों तक वो यही सोचते रहे कि प्रकृति से इस छेड़छाड़ का प्रभाव उनके ऊपर नहीं आएगा। वो देश इसे दूसरों के ऊपर ही डालते रहे।

मोदी ने कहा कि सभी को अपने आसपास गरीबी से जूझ रहे लोगों के बारे में और साथ ही संसाधनों के अभाव में फंसे देशों के बारे में सोचना ही होगा।

आर्थिक अस्थिरता से भी गुजर रही दुनिया

प्रधानमंत्री ने कहा कि यह बात सर्व स्वीकार्य है कि आज का यह समय इस सदी का सबसे चुनौतीपूर्ण समय है। आज एक ओर महीनों से दो देशों में युद्ध चल रहा है तो वहीं दुनिया आर्थिक अस्थिरता से भी गुजर रही है। आतंकवाद और मजहबी उन्माद जैसे खतरे मानवता की आत्मा पर प्रहार कर रहे हैं। जलवायु परिवर्तन जैसी चुनौती पूरी मानवता के अस्तित्व पर आफत बनकर मंडरा रही है। ग्लेशियर्स पिघल रहे हैं। पारिस्थितिकीय तंत्र नष्ट हो रहे हैं। प्रजातियां विलुप्त हो रही हैं। लेकिन इन सबके बीच हमारे आप जैसे करोड़ों लोग भी हैं जिन्हें युद्ध में आस्था है और जीव मात्र के कल्याण में विश्वास है।

सदियों पहले बुद्ध ने दे दिया था समाधान

प्रधानमंत्री ने कहा कि आधुनिक विश्व की ऐसी कोई समस्या नहीं है जिसका समाधान सैंकड़ों वर्ष पहले दिए गए बुद्ध के उपदेशों में न हो। उन्होंने कहा कि आज दुनिया जिस युद्ध और अशांति से पीड़ित है, उसका समाधान बुद्ध ने सदियों पहले दे दिया था। इस दो दिवसीय शिखर सम्मेलन की मेजबानी संस्कृति मंत्रालय अंतरराष्ट्रीय बौद्ध परिसंघ के सहयोग से कर रहा है। शिखर सम्मेलन का विषय 'समकालीन चुनौतियों पर प्रतिक्रिया : अभ्यास के लिए दर्शन' है। यह वैश्विक शिखर सम्मेलन बौद्ध धर्म में भारत के महत्त्व और अहमियत को विहित करेगा।

चुनौतियों से बचने को बुद्ध के मार्ग पर चलना होगा आतंकवाद और मजहबी उन्माद जैसे खतरे मानवता की आत्मा पर प्रहार कर रहे हैं

नई दिल्ली, लोकसंघ

प्रधानमंत्री नरेन्द्र मोदी ने भगवान गौतम बुद्ध की शिक्षाओं को 'मानवता का विश्वास' बतते हुए आज कहा कि दुनिया को आर्थिक अस्थिरता, आतंकवाद एवं मजहबी उन्माद तथा जलवायु परिवर्तन की वैश्विक चुनौतियों से बचाने के लिए बुद्ध के मार्ग पर चलना होगा।

श्री मोदी ने यहां शुरू हुए दो दिवसीय वैश्विक बौद्ध शिक्षा सम्मेलन के उद्घाटन सत्र को संबोधित करते हुए यह बात कही। कार्यक्रम में केन्द्रीय विधि एवं न्याय मंत्री किरण रिजीजू, पर्यटन एवं संस्कृति मंत्री जी किशन रेड्डी, संस्कृति एवं संसदीय कार्य राज्य

मंत्री अर्जुन राम मेघवाल, संस्कृति एवं विदेश राज्य मंत्री मीनाक्षी लेखी, अंतरराष्ट्रीय बौद्ध परिषद के महासचिव, देश-विदेश से आये बौद्ध भिक्षु शामिल हुए।

प्रधानमंत्री ने कहा, "आज का ये समय इस सदी का सबसे चुनौतीपूर्ण समय है। आज एक ओर, मशीनों से दो देशों में युद्ध चल रहा है, तो वहीं

दुनिया आर्थिक अस्थिरता से भी गुजर रही है। आतंकवाद और मजहबी उन्माद जैसे खतरे मानवता की आत्मा पर प्रहार कर रहे हैं। जलवायु परिवर्तन जैसी चुनौती पूरी मानवता के अस्तित्व पर आफत बनकर मंडरा रही है। ग्लोबलवाइस पिछल रहे हैं, परिस्थितिकीय संकट हो रही है, प्रजातिप्राय विलुप्त हो रही हैं। लेकिन इस सबके बीच, हमारे आप जैसे करोड़ों लोग भी हैं जिन्हें बुद्ध में आस्था है, जीव मात्र के कल्याण में विश्वास है। ये उम्मीद, ये विश्वास ही दस धरती की सबसे बड़ी ताकत है। जब ये उम्मीद एकजुट होगी, तो बुद्ध का धम्म विश्व की धारणा बन जाएगा, बुद्ध का बोध मानवता का विश्वास बन

श्री मोदी ने अपने संबोधन की शुरुआत करते हुए वैश्विक बौद्ध शिक्षा सम्मेलन आने वाले अतिथियों का स्वागत करते हुए कहा कि बुद्ध की इस धरती की परंपरा है- 'अतिथि देवो भवः'। अर्थात्, अतिथि हमारे लिए देवता के समान होते हैं। लेकिन, भगवान बुद्ध के विचारों को जीने वाले इतने व्यक्तित्व जब हमारे सामने हों, तो समाज बुद्ध की उपस्थिति का अहसास होता है। क्योंकि, बुद्ध व्यक्ति से आगे बढ़कर एक बोध है। बुद्ध स्वरूप से आगे बढ़कर एक सोच हैं। बुद्ध चित्रण से आगे बढ़कर एक चेतना है और बुद्ध की ये चेतना विरंतर है, निरंतर है। ये सोच शाश्वत है।

Buddhist faith biggest strength amid crises: PM

EXPRESS NEWS-SERVICE
NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

PRIME MINISTER Narendra Modi on Thursday said the world was going through the most challenging time, with the Russia-Ukraine war, economic crisis and climate change, but the faith of scores of people in Buddhism would prove to be the greatest strength.

The PM inaugurated the two-day Global Buddhist Summit here, which is being organised by the Union culture ministry and the International Buddhist Confederation. Delegates from 30 countries are in attendance. The PM offered robes to 19 prominent monks from across the world. Tibetan Buddhism's leader, the Dalai Lama, was not among those who attended the event.

"We are going through the most challenging time today. For many months, there is a war between two nations and the world is going through economic volatility. Threats of terrorism and religious fanaticism are attacking humanity's soul," he said.

He added that climate change, with melting glaciers and disappearing ecosystems, was plaguing the world today. "But, at the same time, there are scores of people like you, who believe in the Buddha. This faith is the biggest strength of this earth. When this hope gets united, Buddha's Dharma will become the world's belief and Buddha's realisation will become the belief of humanity."

He said had certain countries followed the Buddha's teachings, and thought about the welfare of others and future generations, climate change would not have become the crisis it has today. He reiterated his statement to the United Nations in 2015, when he said "we are a country that has given the world Buddha, not 'war'". "The path of Buddha is the path of the future and the path of sustainability," Modi said.

Citing Buddha's teachings, Modi said: "There is happiness in living together in harmony. Today we see that the thinking of imposing one's own thoughts and beliefs on to others is becoming a big problem for the world."

LORD Buddha's teachings are the basis for solutions to the greatest challenges confronting the world, including war, economic instability, terrorism and climate change, said Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"The noble teachings of Gautama Buddha have impacted countless people over centuries. In the past nine years India has continuously spread the values of Lord Buddha. We have worked with full dedication for his teachings to reach every nook and corner of the world," PM Modi said in Delhi on Thursday, addressing the first Global Buddhist Summit. The Summit is being attended by Buddhist spiritual leaders from across the world.

The power of crores of followers of Lord Buddha across the world, is filled with infinite energy, PM Modi said adding that the Buddha had provided a solution centuries ago for the war and unrest that the world is currently grappling with.

Meanwhile, 170 delegates from across 30 countries are taking part in this event that is jointly hosted by the culture ministry and the International Buddhist Confederation. However, China, which houses the largest Buddhist population in the world, has given this event a miss. Taiwan has two delegates attending as well as participants from Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Japan, South Korea, Mexico, Vietnam and Sri Lanka. "It is universally accepted that today's era is the most challenging time of this century. Today two countries are at war for months and the world is going through economic instability. Threats such as terrorism and religious fanaticism are attacking the soul of humanity. A challenge like climate change is looming large over the existence of humanity," PM Modi said.

India is projecting itself as a propagator of Buddhism as Lord Buddha achieved enlightenment in India.

"There are millions who have faith in the Buddha and believe in the welfare of all living beings, and 'this faith is the biggest strength of the earth,'" Prime Minister Modi said highlighting that the Buddha had preached about abandoning war, defeat and victory for eternal peace.

Buddha's teachings key to solving global problems and climate, says PM Modi

NEW DELHI: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday said the world is passing through challenges such as war, economic instability, terrorism, religious extremism and climate change and asserted that Lord Buddha's ideas offer a solution to these problems.

Addressing the inaugural session of the Global Buddhist Summit here, Modi took a swipe at rich countries, saying the world is facing a climate change crisis now because in the last century, "some countries stopped thinking about others and the coming generations".

"For decades they kept thinking that meddling with nature will not impact them. They kept putting it on others," he said.

Emphasising that the path shown by Lord Buddha is the "path of the future and sustainability", the prime minister also said that "had the world followed his teachings, it would not have faced the climate change crisis". In his address, Modi quoted ancient texts on Lord Buddha's teachings and said the need of the hour is that people and nations prioritise global interests along with that of their own by drawing inspiration from the Buddha's philosophy.

This is the road to a happy and smile world. This is necessary to move from self to the wider world, from narrow to integral (approach), the prime minister said, adding that the world will have to think about the poor and countries lacking resources.

Modi asserted that India has been following the path shown by the Buddha and cited the country extending help to others, including Türkiye after it was hit by an earthquake, to say that it has treated every human being's pain as its own. "Challenges to solutions is the journey of the Buddha ('samasyo so samadhan'). The Buddha didn't leave his palace because he was in discomfort. He left because he saw and felt the pain of others," he said. It is universally accepted that today's time is the "most challenging time of the century," Modi said.

One should behave rightly, then preach others: PM

'Today's Time Is The Most Challenging Time Of This Century'

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Thursday the world is passing through challenges such as war, economic instability, terrorism, religious extremism and climate change and asserted that centuries ago Lord Buddha's teachings offered a solution to these problems.

"It is universally accepted that today's time is the most challenging time of this century. Buddha, who believe in the welfare of all living beings. This hope, this faith is the biggest strength of this earth. When these hopes unite, the Buddha's Dhamma will become the world's belief."

"The Global Buddhist Summit is seen as an important initiative of Modi government to resist China's bid, as part of its larger aggressive approach for pursuing diplomatic objectives, to project itself as home to Buddhism.

Significantly, Modi said that attempts are being made to impose one's thoughts, and one's faith on others, which is also becoming a big challenge for the world. "But, what Lord Buddha had said, Lord Buddha had said: Atan mev pathaman, pati rupe nivesaye. ie, first one should behave rightly, then one should preach to others. In the modern era, we see that whether it is Gandhiji or many leaders of the world, they get inspiration from this formula," Modi said.

The PM said that there was no problem in the modern world whose solution could not be found in the teachings of the Buddha.

Hosting the first International Buddhism Summit, the PM said that there is another reason for his intimate attachment to the event. "The place where I was born, Vadnagar in Gujarat, has a deep association with Buddhism. Much archaeological evidence related to Buddhism has been found in Vadnagar. Once Buddhist traveller Hsien Tsang also visited Vadnagar. And the things which have been put up in the exhibition which I saw here, many things have been kept here in detail. And see the coincidence, that I was born in Vadnagar and I am the MP from Kashi, and Sarnath is also situated there," the PM said.

Modi also said that it was the need of the hour that people and nations prioritise global interests along with their own. "The world will have to think about the poor and countries lacking resources," he said and asserted that India has been following the path shown by the Buddha and cited the country extending help to others, including Turkey after it was hit by an earthquake, to say that it has treated every human being's pain as its own.
